KINETIC POTENTIAL NETWORK

The Kinetic Potential Network (KPN) is a membership collaborative of Public Housing Authorities (PHAs), Educational Institutions, Government Agencies, nonprofit organizations, and Private Companies dedicated to implementing Kinetic Potential’s Community Stakeholder Model and Talent Supply Chain framework in local communities throughout the United States. Each member affirms their commitment to diversity, equity and inclusivity and collaborate to implement sustainable workforce development solutions that incorporate wrap around services and ongoing development for underserved talent.

Who Is It For?

KPN is tailored for organizations that support, fund, develop and hire individuals facing barriers to employment—collectively Community Stakeholders. KPN members share a commitment to working collectively to provide more efficient and cost-effective solutions that lead to improved employment outcomes for all stakeholders. Each member of KPN is connected through the KP Life Platform creating a true system to facilitate a talent supply chain approach to workforce development and supportive services.

What are the Key Tenets of KPN?

As a KPN member and/or Community Stakeholder, my organization recognizes the value and need to:

- Strive for greater diversity, equity, and inclusivity internally, and in the community, through intentional development and implementation of actionable strategies.
- Prioritize the talent developed by KPN for job shadowing, internships, apprenticeships, mentorship and other work-based learning opportunities. Assess Talent developed by KPN partners for employment opportunities.
- Collaborate with other KPN partners to increase workforce demand by expanding business opportunities through joint ventures, teaming agreements and pursuing additional funding opportunities to support our collective mission.
